

O Come, O Come Emanuel

By Erich Gliebe

Hello, and welcome back to another broadcast of American Dissident Voices, the Internet radio program of North America's foremost racist organization, the National Alliance. I'm your host and the Chairman of the Alliance, Erich Gliebe.

Well, the 2008 national election is finally over and the American public now has achieved its heart's desire — our first Black president, Barack Obama. Blacks are dancing in the streets, Russia honors him with a parade, and terrorists send congratulations. American Blacks openly shed tears of joy, and mestizos glory in the fact that Republicans will be unable to win New Mexico and Texas in the future without changing their position against amnesty for illegal immigrants. Yes, it is a great day for "democrats" and non-Whites, especially for White Americans with a guilt complex who believe that Obama's election is payment in full for over a century of racism and oppression against Blacks. Many White patriots, however, are not so happy with the election. One reason for their unhappiness is Obama's pick of Rahm Emanuel as White House Chief of Staff.

Rahm Emanuel is a Jewish member of the House of Representatives who votes a documented 98% with the Democrats. His appointment marks a switch in tone for Obama, who promised, if elected, to reach across the aisle to Republicans. Emanuel is not one of those guys who like to share power or reach across the aisle. Associated Press calls him a man with sharp elbows and a "fiery partisan who doesn't mind breaking glass and hurting feelings." In fact, he once sent a dead fish to one of his political rivals. After the Republicans blew out the Democrats in the 2002 off-year election, Emanuel publicly named those he considered "traitors" to the party and slammed a steak knife into a table with each name. Yeah — just the kind of guy to heal wounds and bring us together! Nevertheless, Emanuel is now swearing to do all he can to work with Republicans. In the past, when Democrats have implored Republicans to be bipartisan, they meant that Republicans should simply try to get along by adopting the Democrat position. There is no indication that Emanuel means anything other than that now.

The AP said Rahm Emanuel (above) "is known as a foul-mouthed practitioner of brass-knuckled politics who relishes both conflict and publicity." Maybe the AP is using code words to say he is a typical Jew?

The Associated Press reports that Emanuel "is known as a foul-mouthed practitioner of brass-knuckled politics who relishes both conflict and publicity." He will have both if Democrats, as expected, try to rush through volumes of legislation before the 2010 off-year election. As Republican Representative John Boehner of Ohio says, Emanuel is an "ironic choice for a president-elect who has promised to change Washington, make politics more civil, and govern from the center." The only center Emanuel will try to hit is the bull's eye on the back of conservative legislators in both parties. He is a liberal Zionist whose major interests lie in Israel and in America's compliance with Israel.

If Emanuel is dedicated to Democrat liberalism and Zionism, he is not, unfortunately, also dedicated to the truth. For example, he used to claim that he lost a finger on his hand while serving with the Israeli Defense Forces. Now, however, he admits that he lost the finger in an accident while working at a fast food joint!

san who once headed an organization called People for the American Way. To some extent, Podesta was able to convince Americans that the Jewish media's way was the American way while at the same time being 100% wrong and misleading.

Those considered to be on Obama's short list of future appointments don't bode much better than Emanuel and Podesta do. Apparently former Secretary of State Colin Powell, a nominal Republican, is hoping to be appointed Secretary of Education. What this Black former general and traitor to his party could offer as education chief is hard to fathom. Powell was willing to jettison his previously claimed values in order to back a fellow Black for the presidency. So here is a man we can really trust!

Another probable Obama appointee is yet another Jew, David Axelrod, the Black Messiah's former chief campaign strategist. Axelrod and Emanuel are apparently very close friends in private life, Axelrod having played a major role in the Jewish wedding of Emanuel's daughter.

As one would expect, Obama's team of sixteen economic advisors is also full of Jews such as Robert Reich and Robert E. Rubin. The token woman on the team is Michigan Governor Jennifer Granholm. Ironically, Granholm's state is one of the few that never grew out of the post-9/11 economic doldrums otherwise successfully addressed by the hated George W. Bush. I guess it is better to have a die-hard liberal woman on board who failed miserably in her own state than to have an independent woman on board who might tell it like it is.

So what is so sinister about all of these Jews landing powerful positions in the next administration? Well, the trouble is that America is already tottering economically due to a giant national debt. National debt grows as a nation borrows more and more money. Jews are international moneylenders, professional usurers who set up banks and loan money to countries for a profit. In other words, Jews profit while countries sink deeper into debt. Unfortunately, those to whom they owe money politically manipulate debtor nations. In other words, whoever controls a nation's debt controls that nation's future. Jews have played this game very successfully for centuries. You might ask why more people don't know about this and take patriotic action against the International Jew? Well, it is because Jews control most nations' media. Simply acquaint yourself with who owns all of America's major news and entertainment media companies, and you will see that most, if not all, are Jews who portray Jews as oppressed victims and who promote their own agenda on social issues. The more a nation collapses morally, the more money the Jews make, and ultimately the more power the Jews have.

Some may say, "Well, so what?" I can only refer apathetic White Americans to certain suppressed histories by unimpeachable sources that have managed to survive even in the midst of Jewish suppression. The National Alliance stocks such books, and every American patriot interested in the past and future should read them. For instance, readers will find that the International Jew helped engineer the American Civil War, World War I, World War II, and the Cold War. Playing nation against nation and nations against themselves, the International Jew has gained in economic and political power. Their passion is to control the world in such a way that Jews enjoy the "good life" at the expense of everyone else. This is no wild-eyed, bigoted theory. It is backed by the facts for anyone interested in pursuing the truth.

Obama may or may not know this history. Either way, he rewards many Jews with top political and economic positions in our country because Jews pulled many a string to get him elected. Jews have always used credulous Blacks as pawns in their plan to control America, and the 2008 election was no exception. Jews backed Obama financially and used their controlled media to build him up at every turn. One can find few examples in the 2008 campaign of the Jewish-controlled news media asking Obama or Biden "hard" questions. On the contrary, the media glossed over errors made by Obama and Biden, and went all out to discredit the Republican ticket, particularly Sarah Palin. In fact, for the first time in American history, the news media made little or no pretense about whom they supported. First, they so vilified George W. Bush for eight years that the average American concluded no one elected to the presidency could do any worse. Then, after convincing "the people" that nobody could be worse than Bush, they carried the Democrat message that McCain was just another George Bush. Therefore, according to media indoctrination, anyone must be better than John McCain. This laid the foundation for accepting a mulatto or liberal female president. As Americans become increasingly dumber and indoctrinated as a result of public schooling, the ruse worked and Obama won. It is significant that non-Whites and the youth vote accounted for Obama's win.

Last week, newsman Chris Matthews of MSNBC's Hardball said on television that he was no longer going to hide behind a mask of impartiality. He said that Obama must succeed, and he, Matthews, will do all he can to ensure Obama's success. Of course, regular watchers of Matthews' show knew that he was a shill and that the network for which he worked was slanted towards Obama. He just finally came out and said so. Will Americans become more questioning of what they see on television as a result of Matthews' confession and as a result of the news blatantly supporting one candidate over others? Only time will tell.

The sad fact is that 43% of White voters supported Obama. Barack will meet terrible problems, however, as president. For example, the Jews have America in a terrible position economically. Will they move to help Obama solidify his power base by improving the American economy? Also, certain constituencies that oppose the Jews voted for Obama because he seemed to distance himself from the Jews in the national election. Those who oppose the Jews won't be happy.

Also consider, will he support financial reparations for so-called past injustices committed against Blacks? If he does, many of the naive Whites who supported him will leave his side. If he doesn't, the Black community will charge him with being co-opted by the system and for having been a closet Uncle Tom. In essence, Obama supporters projected upon their candidate all their hopes, their dreams, their fears, and their desires for power, and saw in him whatever light they wanted to see him. But the Black Messiah cannot please everybody, and in time there will be hell to pay. No one can be all things to all people, and Messiahs have a way of being "crucified."

Of course, having Obama in the White House may actually help us. I have notice a reinvigorated enthusiasm in White racialists, something that we may not have seen with a McCain presidency. I predict more Whites becoming politically active in Our Cause from here on out.

Now always remember, though, we are not interested in saving the present political system. After all, mass democracy cannot work in a multi-racial society, and nor can democracy work in a nation in which its news and entertainment media is controlled by the Jews. Trying to keep the American democratic system going is like trying to breathe life into a rotting corpse. The system has failed us; time and time again it has shown that it does not look out for the best interests of the White race. We are looking to build something healthy; something new. What we are striving for is stated on the masthead of our magazine, National Vanguard, and that is: "Toward a New Consciousness; a New Order; a New People"

I'm Erich Gliebe, and thanks for being with me again today.
